PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENTS

That Cover a Wide Range of Literature

Ginn & Co. publish in their International modern language series "An Introduction to the French Language," a complete course for beginners, by A. N. Van Daell, professor of modern languages in the Massachusetts institute of technology, and formerly director of modern languages in the Boston public schools. This is a complete first year book, concise yet accurate and thorough, in two parts. Part I consists of exercises; part II is a brief French grammar, and is specially intended for the elementary course in colleges, seminaries, academies, and high schools, and may be used with any reader or set of reading-books. Of literature in the German department there is Freytag's "Soll und Haben," edited and annotated by Ida W. Breitmann, professor of German in Elmira college; Keller's "Dietergen," edited and annotated by Gustav Greuner, assistant professor in German in Yale University; and in press and in course of preparation Auerbach's "Brigitte," edited by J. Howard Gore, professor of German in Columbus University, Washington, D. C.; H. von Sybel's "Die Echebung Europas gegen Napoleon I.," edited by A. B. Nichols, instructor in German in Harvard University; and Schiller's "Wallenstein," edited by H. K. Schilling, assistant professor of German in Harvard.

DR. GALIPPE reports to the French Academy of Sciences that after eight years' investigation he finds all stones, such as gravel, found in the human body are produced by microbes. Microbes are the authors of that decomposition which results in calcareous deposits.

SENATE PASS REPEAL BILL

FORTY-EIGHT TO THIRTY-SEVEN

DEBATE ENDS WITH LIVELY TALK

THE HOUSE MUST NOW ACT AGAIN

No Doubt That the Repeal Bill Will Become a Law in a Day or Two—No Breaks in the Repeal Banks—Wolcott and Carey Have a Worthy Tiff.

Unconditional repeal of the silver purchase law came at last in the Senate at 7.30 o'clock this evening. The majority was just what has been expected—48 for repeal to 37 against, including the pairs. It took eight hours for the silver senators to file their protests against repeal, and while the speeches were livelier than some that have been made, there were few exciting episodes except the personal controversy between Judge Carey of Wyoming and young Mr. Wolcott, Colorado. Judge Carey, who has stood up manfully for repeal against the efforts of the Colorado miners to create free silver sentiment in his state, repelled an offensive personal charge which was made by Wolcott in his dramatic speech of Saturday and brought upon himself a fresh tirade of abuse from the Colorado senator. Senator Harris of Tennessee also said some bitter things of Senator Voorhees, but did not succeed in irritating the latter into a reply.

The Senate was crowded all day to the doors and far into the outer corridors. Earnest, hard-working men stood in the line for hours in the marble hallways, waiting for somebody to come out to give them a chance to witness the death of the silver purchase law. Sir Julian Pauncefote sat for several hours in the diplo-

DEATH OF AUSTIN P. CARY

Austin P. Cary died last evening at his Day-avenue home after a long and severe illness. Mr. Cary was born in Sunderland in 1843. He first came to Westfield about 20 years ago and had made that his home most of the time since. He had always identified himself with church work and was for a time a deacon in the First church. At Amherst he was a classmate of Dr. Parkhurst and A. J. Titworth. Besides his widow he leaves a mother and two half-sisters, who live at Amherst.

The republican headquarters were well filled at the smoke talk last evening with an enthusiastic audience. These candidates were present: Alvan Barrus of Goshen, W. H. Braherd of Palmer, E. P. Ford of Holyoke, J. R. Wells of Springfield, H. C. Bliss of West Springfield, A. S. Knell of Westfield.

Timothy J. Malone, Michael Casey and Nicholas McCabe were fined $5 each at the district court yesterday morning, on the charge of drunkenness. Heron was naturalized Sunday night at her home on Montgomery street. Mrs. Orris T. Gooden, a widow, died Sunday morning examination is to be held this morning at 9 o'clock to ascertain the cause of her death. The local post of the Grand Army are planning for a supper and entertainment this evening. The members of the relief corps and several others have been invited.

The board of health has petitioned the selectmen to call a special town-meeting to authorize them to lay sewers on King avenue and King place. The town has sufficient material for the work, so that the cost would be only that of the labor required for the construction.

HAMPSHIRE COUNTY

Northampton

The board of registrars were in session again last night to decide upon several cases which were left over when they closed their meeting Saturday night.

The case of Grady against Finn is to be continued before the first jury to-day, after which the jury will be dismissed as this is the last jury case of the term. The plaintiff's case was put in last week and now it is the defense's turn.

Prof. Floggett has engaged De Pachmann, the great pianist, for a recital at the college, Wednesday evening, Nov. 22, and has placed tickets on sale at Bridgman's, with reserved seats at $1. Mrs. Susan McCallum, 81, died at her home on South street Sunday night. Mrs. McCallum was a native of Perthshire, Scot., but much of her life was spent in Montreal, where she was married. She leaves eight children, including Alexander
