A Hat's the dome, the steeple-top of thought; the attic room, the cockloft of the head; the hive where Fancy's honeybees are caught, which, else, beyond the Memory's reach had fled. A hat well-brushed is a top-stone to the man; Corinthian column he, with cap to match; a column it were poetry to scan, and with a glance its fine proportions catch. A crownless hat lacks poetry; and he, whoe'er the miserable man may be, whose tangled hair stands peering
